

Segway Policy

People using a Segway as a mobility device are allowed to bring it onboard any city bus. We consider it in the context as something similar to a wheelchair. It must be secured, separate from the owner holding it, while the bus is in motion.

People using a Segway as a recreational device, not needing it to assist them in going from one place to another, may bring it on any city bus as long as there is room on the bus for this unit. It must be secured, separate from the owner holding it, while the bus is in motion.
